DIAMOND MOUNTAIN
NAPA VALLEY

Winemakers Notes:

The small appellation of Diamond Mountain sits above Calistoga in the north west part of the Napa Valley. With less than 5,000 acres planted, this fruit is revered and highly sought after; so when we had a chance to get our hands on some we jumped at the opportunity.

There are quite a few words we could use to describe this wine, but if we had to pick one it would be structure. This is the first wine we have made from Diamond Mountain and we are blown away by the structure, depth, and complexity it shows even at this young age. Red berries, herbs, mineral notes and spice intertwine with red and black fruits, mocha, fine etched graphite, and slate. As with all stellar mountain Cabernets, it's the powerful tannic core that simultaneously frames and drives these complex flavors; creating a killer wine that will lay down beautifully for years.
